

The Heart Diamond Experience

Meditation in the Imperial Gardens Tokyo Japan

By Ronald Holt

I have been debating for several months about whether or not I should share a personal experience I had in Japan back in July of 2012. The thought kept reappearing, and I finally surrendered to it.

During one of my last trips to Japan, I had an experience of what I call the diamond reality that really impacted me. I was sitting at the top of the waterfall near Otemachi in Tokyo(at my favorite Imperial Gardens power-spot) where I commonly go to do meditation.

I was at the place in consciousness well beyond the I/Me/Ego/False-Self. I was abiding within the stillness, with its exquisite state of fulfillment. During the fulfilled state, I was inspired to consciously connect and embrace every power-spot and ley line in the Tokyo area, and then slowly, one-by-one, connect with all of the power spots and ley lines throughout Japan, as if they were like water drops merging into one larger body, one-by-one.

In the ancient past, Japan was entirely merged by this “living consciousness” via all the connections of the power spots and ley lines into a unified body. During the meditation I suddenly I observed a giant diamond descend over (and entirely encompass) all of Tokyo.

I heard a voice calmly and firmly state, “Tokyo is spared,” at which time I couldn’t stop the tears from flowing. It was as if a very deep part of me knew the gravity of the truth in this.

From here, I next began to see enormous diamonds descending from the heavens into various places along the mountain range that seemingly resembles the backbone of Japan. These enormous diamonds appeared out of nowhere and were similar in size to the one overlapping Tokyo. They descended as if they were descending on chakra points along the mountainous backbone that spans the entire length of Japan.

As the diamonds exposed themselves, I became aware of that voice again stating that the “diamond consciousness” and the “diamond way” is an open invitation to all beings who dare to re-enter it. They must own it without personalizing it.

It seems as though our ability to surrender polarity and seek the integration behind the charged dynamics within our challenges lends such stillness and clarity to our vision capacity. It opens a pathway to allow polarized opposites to merge back together.

In their merging, a "fusion of polarities" arises and fuels the diamond in the heart from the energy released as polarities (and their surface tensions & charges) merge. This diamond pathway between polarities is one way the wheel of karma is stopped eternally for each of us, and provides a ladder out of the polarized reality and into the diamond-clear reality where we are free to explore and re-familiarize ourselves with our true limitlessness within all creation and all its infinite possibilities and dimensions.

This means that the doorway or bridge to the diamond possibilities and probabilities opens to us. It invites us back into the diamond integration reality.

The voice stated that, "This is a reality template beyond the I/Me/Ego, which invites all who may come upon this level of available timelines to take ownership of this pathway, then abide within it, in order to crystallize it for all beings, which enables a pathway toward this opened timeline probability."

"As you are seeing and experiencing it, now take the next step and own it, but own it at a state beyond the 'I'. Own it by experiencing it in deep meditation in order to crystallize and manifest it here in this reality as a true probability doorway."

I understood what was just shared as a form of building a bridge that is manifested by a non-egoic abiding within the consciousness itself.

In that moment, I didn't think I had the right, or the capability, of doing this. Yet it was here!

Then that voice reminded me in a frank and matter-of-fact way that all who feel the invitation "already are it." This invitation is offered at this time because we are ready. I was being reassured that I could own the enormity of it, as this is also activating our awareness of our limitless consciousness. This means that as above, so below, our consciousness is also reflected in the entire Earth-Christ-Consciousness grid (and more).

This voice next prompted me to slowly and step-by-step consciously connect and embrace every power spot and ley line from Japan to China, Russia, Mongolia, Southeast Asia, Australia, India, Middle East, Africa, Europe, Scandinavia and across to the south-central and northern Americas until this consciousness came back to Japan and the polar regions as one complete diamond consciousness -- a unified Earth being that represents the entire Earth Christ Consciousness grid. It was all over the world as one intrinsically whole and aware consciousness. This is the diamond clear nonpolarized integrated state.

From this consciousness level it was understood that the more we individually go here and abide for as long as we can, we empower this bridge like an invitation, for all levels of life to step on it and empower it in this probability timeline. This consciousness can thus holistically disseminate the open invitation to all beings to move back into the diamond.

Just like the physics principal of Schrödinger's Cat, where the probabilities within the box remain in an unmanifested state until an observer opens the box, consciousness influences manifestation probability timelines.

If no one opens the box, then order is left unmanifested and the chaos principle is the one to manifest probabilities.

This transmission I was receiving then continued, "Until a few brave and ready souls arise to their highest potential of the diamond stellated dodeca Christ consciousness grid between polarities, the Schrödinger's Cat effect will not be set and thus it remains an unmanifested probability."

"Simply own it by abiding within it, and then let creation make all the necessary adjustments to have it arise naturally where it then enters the inspirations of others (and into their worlds) without the need for egos to do anything. This allows for the creator's hand to set diamond clarity and integrity, perfectly and without interference.

"This way, the bridge to the probability of the diamond consciousness gets built in the perfect way without a crusade or crusader consciousness. It comes from just purity and the Creator's hand moving by pure consciousness in absolute sweet surrender."

I have been allowing this meditation experience to arise and wash over my meditations since my last trip to Japan. When this diamond way exposed itself and its open invitation to all beings, animals strangely began to respond in amazing ways. (Yes it does sound crazy to me also!) Most profoundly was a meditation experience shortly afterward in Tokyo in which turtles in a pond collectively and simultaneously came toward me out of the water and raised their heads when I reached the peak of my meditation experience.

This diamond meditation helps one palpably open to experiencing the presence of that diamond reality very deeply within the heart and share it in the physical world. I have been aware of this reality for a long time and wondered if this practice could be taught. I am receiving guidance about this and in the future will begin sharing it with groups to refine the next stage of the process. Thanks for your interest!
